<sup>1</sup> INTF says that this is still an Abschrift of 1929, but it also deserves its own number because all MSS are copies of others.

<sup>2</sup> In hypothesis the numbers rise.

UV: 177r, 269v, 280rv.

Interesting or significant material: 64r starts hypothesis for 1 Corinthians. Text starts on 64v. 101r has a tab that indicates a special passage. 124v is 2 Corinthians hypothesis. 2 Cor starts on 124v as well. 167r Galatians hypothesis; 168r Galatians; 177r erasure. 190r has Colossians hypothesis; Col starts on 190v. Paul's letters thus do not follow the 'traditional' order. 210v has Phil hypothesis with several lines (the intro and heading) missing; Phil also starts on 210v. Eph hypothesis on 227v; Eph starts on 228r. 257r starts 1 Thess hypothesis and text. 270r starts 2 Thess hypothesis; text starts on verso, but the rubrication is forgotten and all the text is black until 272r. 1 Timothy hypothesis starts 278v; text starts on 279r. 299v starts 2 Tim hypothesis; 300r starts text. A sufficient number of wax drippings and marginalia (perhaps corrections of text or commentary) to consider the MS to have been well used. 313v is Titus' hypothesis; 314r starts text. 321v has Hebrews hypothesis; text on 322r. 380r has a gap in the commentary between Heb 13.19 and 20. 381v begins brand new material. 390r has text from Matt 21.33ff. 395v starts Matt 22.1. 401r has Matt 25. 404r has Mt 25.32. After that there is quite a bit of material of various sorts. Philemon does not seem to be in the MS. Second hand only appears after Paul's letters.

MS is crooked at times, giving a trapezoidal look.
