Cover material: 8 front leaves plus front cover; one folded flyleaf with Greek text and 5 leaves with Latin text. 3 back leaves plus back cover; on folded flyleaf with Greek text.

Text: foliated correctly until 86 and then one leaf has been numbered twice so add one; after 181 (“180”) two leaves have been added without renumbering, so add three from here on; 240 (“236”) has been numbered twice so add four from here on; one blank leaf has been added after 302 (“298”) so add five from here on; leaf 313 has been numbered twice (“308”) so add six from here on; one leaf has been added after 340 (“334”) so add seven from here on; total leaves: 362.

UV (MS pages, not ours): 262.

Notable features:

Wood cover wrapped in cherry red leather with an imprinted diamond pattern on front and back. A sixty-six centimeter metal chain is attached to the bottom of the back cover. Two leather clasps with metal hooks hold the codex securely closed when latched.

Pages have been trimmed from their original size.

Two folded fly leaves with Greek text at the beginning and end. Each is from a different manuscript; neither appears to be Biblical.

Blank pages on 43b, 44a, 70b, 71a, 112b, 113a, 145b, 177, 181, 182, 262b, 298, 311, 344, 347b, 348a. Several of these are paper.

Eusebian canons on 1–4.

Matthew starts on 6a.

Mark begins on 45a.
