CSNTM* description:

MS number: GA lect 2309

Contents: U-lectionary

Date: X

Material: parchment (palimpsest: undertext is lect 2309; uppertext is lect 220)

Columns: 1

Lines per page: 22

Dimensions: 20–20.5 x 14–15.5 cm<sup>1</sup>

Leaves: 161

UV (MS pages, not ours): entire document (undertext is GA lect 2309).

Interesting or significant material: slip in box with MS: “192 [?] Evangelistarium, on vellum [XIII cent.] 148 ll. (8 ½ in. by 6 1/8 in.) written in clear minuscules, 22 long lines to a page, contains a full menology of calendar of the Saints and Feast Days throughout the year; red painted initials, without covers (some ll. frayed and torn).

4 to. XIII cent.”

The rubricated letters of the undertext are the clearest portions of the undertext. And since the undertext is an uncial lectionary, this makes sense. The basic rule seems to be that rubrication was done more cheaply once the minuscule era began.
