Images: text (670 images) + additional matter (34 images) + cover & color chart (7 images) + UV (9 images) = 720 total images

Quires: difficult to tell; didn't count.

Additional Matter (34 images):

Front (17 images): inside front cover, 6 bound leaves, 2 loose leaves

Back (17 images): 8 leaves, back inside cover

¹ Inside cover of codex says c. 13th century, but the box the MS is housed in crosses out 13th century and says "late 11th–early 12th (re NKH)." Second loose leaf says: "Drew MS 2[:] Second half of the 11th century or the very beginning of the 12th. Ekphonetic notation in carmine ink.

Text (670 images): foliated: after 10 was uncounted fragmentary leaf. Apart from that, everything is counted correctly. The actual image count is thus one higher than what the folios say, beginning with leaf 11.

UV (9 images): 4b–7b, 8b–9a

Notable features:

Box lists date of 13th century, but is crossed out with “late 11th–early 12th (re NKH)”

Gold lettering on red on 1b.

Fragmentary leaves, repaired, 1–9.

‘189’ a–εὐαγγέλια τῶν παθῶν τοῦ κυρίου ὑμῶν ἰησοῦ χριστοῦ: ἐκ τοῦ κατὰ ἰωάννην leaf after ‘251’ was cut out

262b: at top of first column, upside down, in smaller print is the following note:

Εγὼ Σπυριδῶν νταμικί ἔλ εγραψα ταυτα (“I, Spyridon Damiki El, wrote these things”) νταμικί ἔλ seems to be a surname, either from Turkish or Arabic. In Arabic, it is apparently feminine.

286b–287a: several marginal notes making corrections on the text
